

At Martin & Jones, we feel lucky to work with each and every one of our clients. Our clients are people who have undergone hardships or suffered tragedies and have courageously dealt with the challenges they have faced. Through representing individuals and families who have coped with hard times, we have had opportunities to learn about challenges faced by many people in our communities.

It is important to Martin & Jones to try to help strengthen our communities through more than our legal work. Our participation in several community organizations and local and national charities is directly inspired by our heroic clients.

On behalf of our clients who struggle economically after an injury or the death of a loved one, we are proud contributors to the Food Bank of Central and Eastern North Carolina. Each year, in addition to monetary donations, we hold a food drive and directly contribute many pounds of non-perishable food.

On behalf of our many clients who are children, we are proud supporters of the Masonic Home for Children at Oxford. The Masonic Home is a non-profit residential home in Oxford, North Carolina, that provides care for disadvantaged children. Read more about our involvement with the MHCO.
