Referring Cases to Martin & Jones

Martin & Jones welcomes case referrals from our colleagues across the country. We respect our fellow attorneys' client relationships and legal abilities but recognize that from time to time there are cases that require either specific legal experience or a substantial financial commitment in order to successfully obtain recoveries from major insurance companies and corporations.

Our North Carolina personal injury law firm has worked collaboratively with hundreds of large and small law firms throughout the United States in co-counsel, local counsel and referral relationships. Asbestos, medical negligence, prescription drug and consumer fraud claims are just a few examples of cases requiring specific knowledge and substantial resources. We will do as much work as our co-counsel desires in order to pursue a client's claim and maximize the chance of recovery. We honor responsibility and fee-sharing arrangements in keeping with the Rules of Professional Conduct. Call John Alan Jones or Forest Horne to discuss a possible relationship at (800) 662-1234. All inquiries held in the strictest confidence.
