

For more than 35 years, the law firm of Martin & Jones has devoted itself to helping people and families who have been seriously harmed by the negligence of others. We deeply appreciate the trust and confidence our clients have shown us over the decades, and we are grateful for the opportunities to help those in need when tragedy strikes. Hearing from our clients inspires our attorneys and staff. Read the words below and you will see why our work is so important to us. Please keep in mind that past results are no guarantee of future results.

---